Important Safety Information

What is Pivya?

Pivya (pivmecillinam) is a prescription antibiotic for treating uUTI in adult women that works by killing certain bacteria causing the infection

Do not take Pivya if you

Are allergic to pivmecillinam, penicillins, cephalosporins, carbapenems, or other beta-lactam antibiotics

Have primary or secondary carnitine deficiency, including inherited metabolic disorders like methylmalonic aciduria or propionic acidemia

Have porphyria, a group of rare, often genetic disorders caused by enzyme deficiencies in heme production

Talk to your health care provider if you

Have a history of antibiotic allergies

Are taking valproic acid, valproate, other pivalate- generating drugs, or methotrexate

If you are pregnant or planning to become pregnant as treatment of a pregnant individual with Pivya prior to delivery may cause a false positive test for isovaleric acidemia in the newborn as part of newborn screening

Common side effects

Nausea	Yeast infection	Headache
Diarrhea	Genital pruritus (itching)

Serious side effects may occur, including

- Allergic reactions that may require immediate treatment
- Severe diarrhea

Contact your health care provider if you experience serious symptoms, including:

A new rash, urticaria, drug eruption, swelling of the face, difficulty in breathing, or other symptoms of an allergic reaction

If you experience watery or bloody stools (with or without stomach cramps and fever) while taking Pivya and for 2 months after your last dose
